LVMH Prize 2021

Kim Jones, Virgil Abloh, Marc Jacobs, Stella McCartney, Nensi Dojaka, Rui Zhou, Kidsuper, Colm Dillane, Lukhanyo Mdinigi, Karl Lagerfeld, Bianca Saunders, Charles de Vilmorin, Christopher John Rogers, Conner Ives, KidSuper, Colm Dillane, Kika Vargas, Lukhanyo Mdinigi, Nensi Dojaka
Nensi Dojaka is a fashion designer known for her innovative and sustainable approach to fashion. She was awarded the LVMH Prize in 2021. Dojaka's designs have been featured in various fashion shows and events, including Fashion East and Fashion Week. Her work has been recognized by some of the industry's leading brands, such as Bottega Veneta, Prada, and Hermès. Dojaka is a Parsons MFA graduate and has been featured in various publications and social media platforms. She has also collaborated with brands such as Marine Serre, LVMH, and Virgil Abloh. In 2018, Dojaka designed a capsule collection with Dua Lipa and Doutzen Kroes. Dojaka has been featured in various media outlets, including Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, and Interview Magazine. Her dedication to sustainability and ethical practices is evident in her designs, which often incorporate materials such as recycled fabrics and natural fibers.
Delphine Arnault, Nensi Dojaka, Mytheresa, Matchesfashion.com, LVMH.

2015: Delphine Arnault

2016: Matchesfashion.com, Nensi Dojaka

2017: Mytheresa

2018: LVMH

2019: Thebe Magugu

Marine Serre

Parsons

Telfar

BLM

ANDAM

LVMH

Blackpink LISA